

Outdoor Challenges what are they and why do them?

- Did you ever turn up at the field and think....what shall I do today?
- Always seem to stay shooting at the same distance?
- Want a sense of achievement but aren't shooting your best right now?
- Find all the archery rounds confusing, not sure where to start?

If you answer 'yes' to any of the above, Sway Bowmen Outdoor Challenges could be just the thing for you. Even if the answer is 'no' to all, you can still do it just for fun. We think you will enjoy them even more if you do them alongside other archers.

How it works....

There are now three different challenges and within each challenge there are three levels to choose from.

That makes nine challenges, so there is plenty to keep you occupied throughout the whole of any outdoor season.

- Bronze Level - Shorter distances up to 50 yards and 50 metres
- Silver Level - Middle distances up to 60 yards and 60 metres
- Gold Level - Longer distances up to 80 or 100 yards and 70 or 90 metres (you can choose).

There are six or seven rounds to complete in each challenge. You can do them in any order you wish, but beware, the rounds tend to get longer and harder as you work through them, so you may wish to do them in order. The good news is, it doesn't matter what you score. The goal is just to enjoy archery with different distances, round lengths, target sizes and maybe even different people.

<https://sway-bowmen.org.uk/archery-rounds> has details of all the AGB recognised rounds contained in the Marathon and the Sprint. The rounds for the Aussie Adventure can be found on the reverse of the challenge card.

You must shoot alongside at least one other person for the round to be properly scored, then submit it to our records officer in the usual way. You should also write the date completed and score achieved on your own challenge card. When the card is complete you can submit it to one of the Tournaments Team (see below). The Card will be verified against the scores database and then returned to you with a small charm or pin badge attached as a celebratory souvenir. There is a different one to collect for each challenge and level.
